

(l. to r.) Lisa Altieri, Ramón Sánchez and Ana María Viscasillas.

(l. to r.) Manuel Mejía, Sra. Molina and Tirso Molina.

Marilia Juarbe, Carlaos Diago, Sra. Diago, Manuel Sánchez-Biscombe.

NOCHES DE SAN JUAN

Boricua Ambassadors

La crème de la crème of Puerto Rico's business and tourism sectors converged on the Banker's Club last month to present the Puerto Rico Convention Bureau's renewed Ambassadors Program.

Guests were wined and dined at the elite Popular Center club, savoring dishes from a variety of food stations ranging from Spanish fare to succulent cuts of roast beef, cheeses, seafood and pasta. After the smorgasbord, guests' palates were capped off with a selection of deserts, coffee, tea, wine and spirits.

Shortly after the inaugural cocktail and informal dinner, PRCB Executive Vice President and COO Ramón Sánchez introduced PRCB President and CEO Ana María Viscasillas. After a brief welcome message from Viscasillas, she turned the podium over to Associate Vice President of Business Development Lisa Altieri, who gave a full presentation on the program.

The PRCB's Ambassador Program encourages local business people to spread the word about Puerto Rico's convention facilities to all their networking associates and friends. Volunteers receive a welcome kit, an e-newsletter, customized presentations and the full support of the PRCB, which celebrates its 45th anniversary this year. ■

Petrona Benítez, Lisa Altieri and Araceli Ortiz.

Manuel Sánchez-Biscombe, Rich Cortese and Paul Torres.

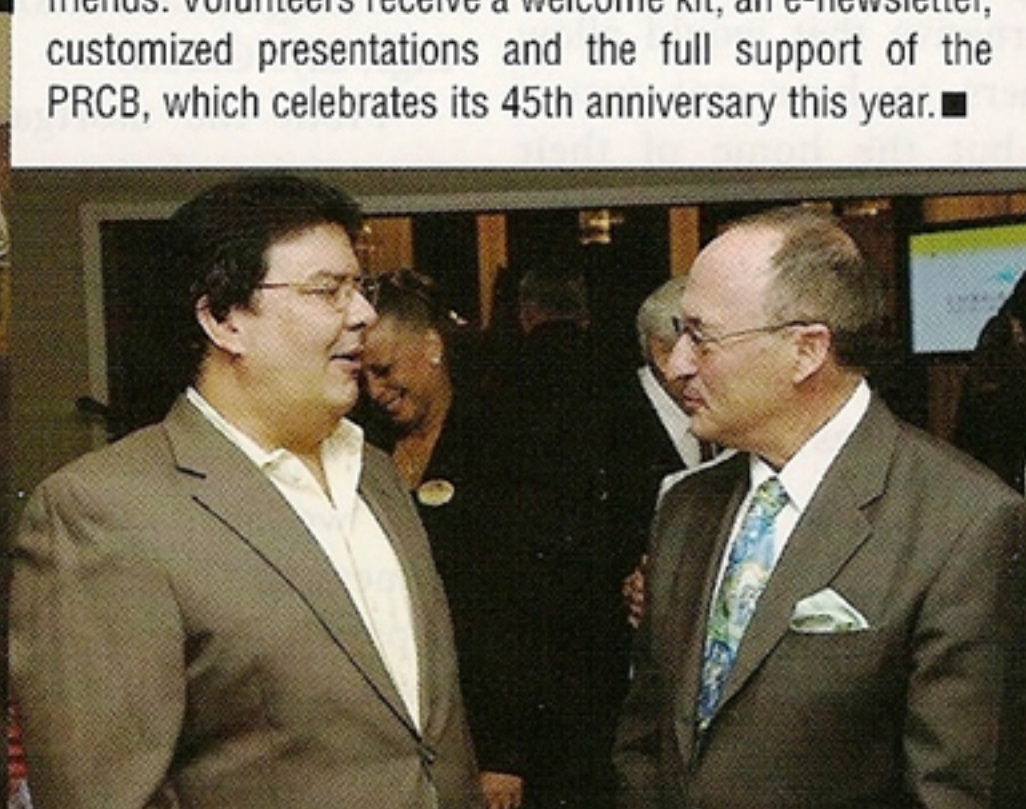

Clarisa Jiménez, Ramón Sánchez & Graham Castillo.

Lisa Altieri and Ana Luisa Plá.

José Corujo, Ana María Viscasillas and Hugh Andrews.

(l. to r.) Angel Bosch and José Campo.

Clarisa Jiménez, Ramón Sánchez and Graham Castillo.